EARLY WINTER STORM RAGES ON MAINLAND

Near-Blizzard Disrupts Communications Through Large Section of Province

FLOODS SUBMERGE WASHINGTON ROADS

VANCOUVER, Dec. 2 (CP).—Sweeping storm of the North, an early winter storm of almost blizzard proportions cut a wide swath through a large section of British Columbia today, crippled wire communications, delayed train service and made travel on the highways extremely difficult.

The storm accompanied by high winds, heavy wet snow, sleet and rain, traveled southward from the Alberta-British Columbia border in the North near Jasper Park, struck down through the valley of the North Thompson River and spread East, West and South, reaching Penikese, at the extreme southern end of the Okanagan Valley.

A WIDE TRACK

At the west end, the storm reached Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, and extended beyond Glacier, fifty miles east of Revelstoke. Around Kamloops Junction, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and southward into the Okanagan Valley wire communication was badly disorganized by wet snow and high winds early in the day.

Late today Vernon reported heavy hail and east and west of Revelstoke, where ten inches of wet snow fell before noon, the weather turned mild with rain and sleet falling, further threatening already overburdened communication lines.

On the coast the weather was clear and mild.

FLOODS IN WASHINGTON

SEATTLE, Dec. 2 (AP).—A new flood threat developed in Western Washington today as torrential rains during the past thirty-six-hour period drenched the Cascade mountains and sent swollen rivers over some of the major highways and onto lowlands.

Small craft on Puget Sound were sent scurrying to shelter as storm warnings were displayed along the coast today and a wind-driven rain continued.

Japanese Vanguard Marching Through Snow in Manchuria—Trains Bombed

TSITSIHAR, Manchuria, Dec. 3 (AP).—Japan's winter army, aiming to wipe out the power of General Su Ping-Wen, who has been holding nearly one-quarter of Manchuria against the Manchukuo Government, today reached the northwestern village of Hailu. A Japanese vanguard, advancing in deep snow of the Kiangnan foothills, occupied Hailu, where they hoisted the Rising Sun flag with the temperature 22 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit).

BOMB TROOP TRAIN

Near Pokoto, twenty-five miles south of Shadyn Pass and 100 miles south of the Soviet border, Japanese airplanes bombed a long west-bound train supposedly filled with troops under command of General Chang Tien-Chu, General Su's chief aide. Three bombs hit the train and hundreds of occupants fled into the hills. It was believed casualties were heavy.

Another Japanese air squadron bombed a supposed insurgent concentration at Chingling, south-eastward from Tsitsihar, and was believed to have inflicted heavy losses.

IN MINOR CLASHES

The Hsinge brigade, crack Japanese unit, was reported mopping up between Puliarchi and Chantzuashan. Minor clashes were reported in which twenty-five Chinese insurgents were killed and one Japanese was wounded. The bulk of the Japanese forces was pushing on to these points after occupying Chantzuashan, seventy-five miles northwest of Tsitsihar.

One of General Chang's cavalry commanders, with 1,000 followers was reported to have surrendered southwest of Chantzuashan.

HOLDING PRISONERS

About 200 Chinese were reported slain in three battles Wednesday and Thursday. Last reports were that General Su was still holding 183 Japanese prisoners, including eighteen women and children, at Manchuli, but the campaign continued despite the danger that their lives might be taken for revenge.

Arrest Two as Robbery Suspects

TORONTO, Dec. 2.—Police announced today that Jack O'Brien and John M. Burle, Toronto, held as suspects in connection with the Fisherton bank robbery November 21, have been charged with robbery before Police Magistrate W. M. McKeown and will be sent to the Owen Sound for trial. It is intimated they were identified by bank customers as robbers who escaped with $4,000.

Minister of Finance Has Confidence Unbounded In Future of Dominion

Great Britain Again Leads as Foremost Exporting Nation

SUNDERLAND, Dec. 2 (CP).—Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, told an audience here tonight he believed for the first time the tide of industry in the United Kingdom had turned. During the regime of the Labor Government, he said, Great Britain dropped to third place among the exporting nations of the world, while latest figures available showed she was back in first place.

In the course of his speech Mr. Baldwin gave what was regarded as a hint that the Government would seek means to aid industry in the United Kingdom.

He mentioned that some foreign countries were building and operating ships with state subsidies, and added "We cannot allow a great industry to suffer from that kind of competition, nor allow inter-continental competition in industries like steel and coal and in shipping rates."

Secretary of State for India Outlines Necessary Powers for Governor-General

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP).—The Indian Round Table Conference ended debate tonight on the question of safeguarding British interests in the proposed new constitution to give India greater measure of responsible government.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, brought discussion to a close with a statement that the Governor-General, in addition to controlling defence and external relations, should have powers of special responsibility in protection of minorities, rights of services, rights of the Indian states, commercial discrimination and relations with other parts of the Empire.

He said these powers would not be carried out so as to interfere with the responsibility of the Government.

Il Duce Orders Laying Down of Italian Warships

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP).—Premier Mussolini ordered the Navy Department today to lay down two light cruisers of 6,742 tons and two torpedo boats, each of 615 tons. The construction is a part of the 1931-32 programme, which was suspended under proposals for a year's holiday made at the Geneva conference by Dino Grandi, then Minister of Foreign Affairs.

CHANCELLOR IS SELECTED

Von Schleicher Authorized to Form Cabinet Responsible to Hindenburg

BERLIN, Dec. 2 (AP).—General Kurt von Schleicher, who calls himself a "man without nerves," was commissioned by President Paul von Hindenburg today to form a presidential cabinet—that is, a cabinet responsible to the President himself.

As Chancellor, the general, who served as Defence Minister in the Von Pappe Cabinet, will face the task of leading a disunited nation, exhausted economically and morally by partisan strife, into a quiet period of economic advance and social appeasement.

MAY END UNCERTAINTY

If he measures up to President Hindenburg's confidence in him, he will have with him practically the entire nation, despite outward political opposition. This was made clear in the press reaction to his appointment.

The fifty-year-old general, whose military career involved jumping over fifteen higher ranking officers in the Reichswehr, is credited with so much ability and personal magnetism that a large part of the German and public believe that on the one hand he can build a bridge over the chasm separating Adolf Hitler's National Socialists from participation in the Government and on the other hand establish friendly contact with organized labor.

HOPES FOR SUPPORT

In addition, he is likely to have the support of the Nationalists, Centrists, Bavarians and Populists, who together command 151 seats out of the 341 of the new Reichstag, which convenes December 6. To these may be added sixteen representatives of the minor bourgeois parties.

A survey of the afternoon press showed that the appointment came as a relief to the business, financial and political world. A general inclination was manifest, except on the part of the National Socialists and Communist press, to give the general a chance.

GOVERNMENT TO VARY RATE TAX

Adjustment in Operators' Commissions for Collections Is Promised

Imposed with a picture of heavy losses this year at British Columbia race tracks where track operators paid out on some days the full amount of the commissions, and then had to apply for reimbursement to the Government, the Government has announced that it is arranging with the British Columbia race tracks, to bring about what amounts to a sliding scale of revenue collection to apply next season.

The adjustment does not change the 7 per cent rate of taxation on racing operations, but does permit of a sliding scale in the commission allowed by the Government to race operators for the collection of the Province's tax from the betting public.

WESTERN HORSE FIXTURES

The Province remains assured of a revenue not less than 5 per cent on the aggregate returns in any event, and in return has accepted the understanding of Mainland and Island track operators that they will stage on each racing day at each track two race fixtures open to Western Canadian-bred horses.

State and Church to Be Reconciled by Legislation

MADRID, Dec. 2 (AP).—A project of law looking toward settlement of the controversy between the State and the Church was presented to Congress today by the Parliamentary Justice Committee. It provides for official recognition of religious orders placed under civil laws, and permits ecclesiastical authorities to be freely named by the Church, but stipulates they must be Spaniards. It also provides for taxation of convents, seminaries and episcopal palaces, and states the Church must expect no financial aid from the State, according to Article 26 of the Republican constitution. UNITED STATES UNLIKELY TO GRANT BRITISH AND FRENCH DEBT MORATORIUM REQUESTS

Leaders of Congress United in Demand for Rejection of Proposals

NO CONCERN IS SHOWN OVER STERN WARNING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP).—The leaders of Congress, and rank and file as well, roared back an emphatic "No" today to the new British and French pleas for postponement of the December 15 war debt payments.

With the door to immediate debt relief slammed shut on Capitol Hill, a hint came from the White House that formal answers may not be forwarded by this Government in response to the European arguments for help.

Leaving the regular cabinet meeting, Secretary Stimson told newspapermen it may not be necessary to reply to the communications.

SENTIMENT UNCHANGED

Speaker Garner for the House, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader for the Senate, reported the French and British notes had produced no change of sentiment in Congress, and there was no prospect there of sanction for a December 15 postponement.

Mingled in the varied and emphatic declarations from Capitol Hill were fresh demands that Europe take steps for disarmament and improvement of trade relations before asking debt relief.

ONLY ONE CAUSE

Chairman Borah, of the Senate foreign relations committee, who had advocated a world conference on disarmament, debts, reparations and economics, asserted in a formal statement that the war debts owed this country were only one cause of the world's troubles.

"It is unfair to ask the American taxpayers to contribute their part for the removal of these causes, and leave behind causes which will make their contributions wholly ineffective," Borah said.

THREATENS LAUSANNE PACT

The French note contended that the appeal for debt relief was but a natural sequel to President Hoover's one-year moratorium. It threatened French rejection of the Lausanne agreement on reparations, and argued that this agreement was an outgrowth of the meeting a year ago between President Hoover and Premier Laval.

B.C. Government Has Handed Huge Fund to Aid Cities

Nearly $54,000,000 Paid Into Municipal Coeffers From Provincial Treasury in Last Eleven Years, Premier Tolmie Discloses—Level of Grants Has Grown Threefold in Some Instances

AGGREGATE grants from the British Columbia Government to British Columbia municipalities since 1922 have totaled $53,772,365, Premier Tolmie stated last night in commenting on the assistance given these centres by the Province. Detailed figures for the grants were cited, dealing with distributions by the Province in the eleven-year period on account of liquor profits, motor licences, pari-mutuel taxes, educational grants, hospitals and charitable grants, mothers' and old age pensions, relief of unemployment and sundry disbursements.

The level of aggregate assistance in the fiscal year, 1931-32, was $12,227,589, a small portion of which only is repayable. This assistance has grown from $3,603,195, the actual volume of money handed to the municipalities in 1921-22.

ENORMOUS TOTALS
Liquor profits between 1921-22 and 1931-32, accounted for $10,445,423; motor licences, $4,738,970; racing taxes, $2,031,274; educational grants, $1,747,038; pensions and ordinary relief, $7,938,229; relief of unemployment (for three years), $2,365,647; and miscellaneous grants, $528,611; total, $53,772,365.

"This is the most generous assistance that any Government in Canada has bestowed upon its municipalities. The figures speak for themselves," the Premier stated.

ANNUAL INCREASES
Liquor profits given to cities in 1921-22 were about the same as in 1921-22, due to the fall in revenues of the board; motor licence receipts have grown from $201,654 to $570,500 a year; pari-mutuel taxes have increased from $101,648 to $162,753; educational grants have risen from $1,387,569 to $2,107,708 a year ago.

Hospital and charitable aid has increased threefold from $386,223 to $832,340; pensions and ordinary relief from $459,285, to $1,170,720. Grants in respect to unemployment relief in 1931-32 were $1,560,640.

Analyzed in another way, the total grants from current revenue handed to the municipalities in 1922-23 were $3,917,171; in 1928-29 they were $5,982,927; in 1930-31, the grants were $5,875,224, and in 1931-32, $5,907,000, not including capital and unemployment relief and works at $382,850, the Premier said.

FIRE THREATENS TOWN IN QUEBEC

CHICOUTIMI, Que. Dec. 2 (CP).—A large building in the centre of the business section of this northern Quebec town was a mass of charred ruins tonight.

Fire, which for a time threatened the whole business section of Chicoutimi, did damage estimated at approximately $100,000 when it completely destroyed the Gaudreau and Osgood Block. Firemen battled the flames for two hours before finally gaining the upper hand.

MURDER CHARGE LAID BY POLICE

Halfbreed Taken Into Custody for Trial on Lee Bing Slaying

Formal charge of murder will be laid against John Edward Earl, alias J. E. McLeer, arrested on Thursday night by the provincial police at Lytton, in connection with the finding of the body of Lee Bing, elderly Chinese storekeeper of Lytton, earlier in the week. Earl, a halfbreed, was taken in custody by Sergeant Wood and Constable Dryden, of the force, on the grounds of the province.

A thirty-eight calibre revolver was recovered by the police, according to advice received at the headquarters of the force, and it was believed that Lee Bing was shot five times, while alone in his store some time on the night of November 26, and his body pushed down into the cellar.

Earl, charged directly with this slaying, is said to have made a voluntary statement to the police, the contents of which will not likely be disclosed until the trial.

PROBABLY USED SPEEDER TO FLEE

Missing Machine Found Near International Border May Have Helped Cress to Escape

PENTICTON, B.C., Dec. 2 (CP).—A railroad speeder, missing from near Carmi, has been found near Rock Creek, thirty-five miles farther south and near the international border, and it is believed to have been used by Robert Cress in his flight from the police from whose hands he has twice broken free.

REPORTED BY BOY

Cress is reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Rock Creek by a young boy, and was thought to be heading for Midway, half a mile from the international border.

The train was pulling out of Carmi slowly when Cress, taking two officers sitting opposite him by surprise, plunged through the train window. The train was immediately stopped, but in the darkness the fugitive could not be traced. Glass was scattered around the place where Cress landed, and tracks in the snow indicated his course to the railway fence and beyond it to the woods. Blood was spattered here and there.

B.C. Export Trade Steps Up Smartly To United Kingdom

Gain of Nearly $11,000,000 Recorded in Trade Returns for September and October, Premier Tolmie States—Works Policy Justified

BRITISH Columbia's export trade with Great Britain increased $4,305,000 in September, and $6,667,000 in October, over the corresponding months in last year, Premier Tolmie revealed in the course of an instructive address to Ward Seven, Saanich, Conservatives last evening. September exports to Britain amounted to $19,492,000, as against $15,187,000 in the corresponding month of 1931. October exports to the same market were $26,886,000, compared with $20,219,000 in October a year ago. Total export trade from the province increased by $1,093,000 in October this year.

The Premier's remarks were made at a well-attended meeting at St. Martin's Hall. James Owens presided. Both the Premier and Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, received most hearty receptions.

Dealing with the problems of provincial financing, Dr. Tolmie traced the situation that had faced the present Government since it took office, showing the diminution of revenues and the great increase in public demands for expenditure.

Typical of increased revenues available to the Province was the decline in the annual value of products from the four major industries—timber, minerals, agricultural products and fish, which had dropped $116,000,000 in their combined yearly output between 1929 and 1931.

Timber products received in value from $90,000,000 in 1929, to $45,000,000 in 1931; minerals from $58,000,000, to $35,000,000; agriculture from $63,000,000, to $40,000,000, and fish from $24,000,000, to $11,000,000, in annual production in the same period. Increase of British purchasing as instanced by the September and October export figures was a welcome sign, and would improve, he predicted.

The Premier gave figures for the outlay of the Province in municipal grants, as elsewhere reported.

British Columbia had to look outside of itself for aid in the present emergency, and must await the turn of the tide in world trade channels before it could again expect profitable sale for the 75 per cent of its goods produced for export, he concluded.

NOTHING TO RETRACT

In a fighting speech in which he said he had nothing for which to apologize, and that measures he had taken as Minister of Works had been necessary to meet grave problems of unemployment, as encountered by Hon. R. W. Bruhn brought sustained applause from his hearers.

The Government had been forced to take care of 30,000 idle and homeless men in three weeks, and construction of camps had been the only possible solution, he said. If mistakes had occurred, they were honestly made, and no one had any other solution to offer. It was his one regret that finances did not permit of a continuation of useful work, both for the return secured by the Province, and the sake of the men themselves. What work had been done had been properly planned and well executed.

When the House convened, Mr. Bruhn declared, he would be answerable fully to the public accounts committee, and proposed to see that all legitimate requests for information were met to the full.

NO STRUM HUNTERS

"It is high time the strum hunters get it into their heads that the depression is not confined to British Columbia, was not caused by it, and cannot be cured by this province alone. It is a complex problem, caused by a thousand factors in many countries, with nearly as many suggested solutions all over the world. In my mind there is no quick road out, only the old and tried methods of working carefully to an improvement in our international lines of trade and commerce," the minister declared.

The Dominion Government had followed the lead of the Province in provision of camps throughout Canada for single men, based on the British Columbia system, Mr. Bruhn said.

A social hour and dancing followed, with arrangements in the hands of capable committees.

"There are one or two conclusions which stand out in bold relief from the disclosures that, once inflation is deliberately embarked upon, it is difficult, if not impossible, to control, and test in the present time has brought suffering, if not disaster, in its wake.

"Furthermore, every country which has experienced the effects of inflation has without exception endeavored as speedily as possible to return to the basis of sound money. Also assuming inflation could be controlled, our only object in inflation would be to secure a sound position in outside markets. The whole programme involves a 'bigger my neighbor' policy, which can be followed in time by each country and is destined to bring about a competitive race in currency and exchange depreciation on the part of all countries. A competitive race would also most certainly follow the deliberate effort of any important country to secure exchange advantage.

INTERNATIONAL PROBLEM

"In my judgment, the solution of this problem is not to be found in the departure from the principles of sound money," said Mr. Rhodes. "Eminent economists and financiers throughout the world agree that exchange is international in its character and that the remedy to currency problems is only to be found in international action," he said.

"I do not wish to be understood to mean that individual countries should not make efforts to set their own financial house in order, but I do contend that fundamentally a permanent solution can only be found by co-operation on the part of leading countries of the world. It is therefore to be hoped that a solution of this problem may result from the deliberations of the world conference which is to be held in the near future," he said.

Miss Winnifred Kydd Addresses Dinner Gathering at Spencer's on Contribution Made by Women's Organizations Towards Disarmament

The Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club and specially invited representatives of eight or ten other women's clubs of the city gave an overwhelming enthusiastic reception to Miss Winnifred Kydd last night at a banquet given in her honor at Spencer's dining-room.

Following dinner the 106 guests repaired to the lounge, where the guest of honor gave an illuminating talk on the contribution made by women's organizations to a world peace and disarmament, during which she described the methods by which internationally organized women presented their views to the conference through a liaison committee. Some interesting and amusing comparisons were also made between the life of the private delegate at Geneva, with her advantages of "mobility and irresponsibility," and that of an official and fully accredited delegate, compelled to give close attention to the special business for which they were sent.

As president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, Miss Margaret Gray presided and introduced the guests at the head table, with her besides the guest-of-honor, being Mrs. L. A. Genge, regent of Municipal Chapter, I.O.E.; Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, vice-president of the Local Council of Women; Mrs. Hebdon Gillespie, honorary regent, Municipal Chapter; Miss Nan Eaton, president of the University Women's Club; Mrs. Alan Morkill, Provincial Commissioner Girl Guides; Miss Alma Russell, president Sororist Club; Mrs. W. G. Wilson, president Women's Canadian Club; Miss J. Shaw, first vice-president Business and Professional Women's Club, and the past president, Miss K. McLaren; Miss Amy Edwards, representative of the Vancouver Business Women's Club; Mrs. Arthur Walsh, president Y.W.C.A.; and Miss M. A. Wigley, convener of national programme.

Mrs. Rita Ormiston McNeill, ably accompanied at the piano by Marjorie Stewart, gave much pleasure with three vocal numbers: "O, My Love Is a Fisherman," "Rain" and "Boats of Mine."

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP).—The maximum amount of foreign wheat permitted in milling of bread flour was fixed today at 1 per cent by the Ministry of Agriculture. This means that millers must use 99 per cent native wheat in flour.

PAY LAST RESPECTS

VANCOUVER, Dec. 2.—Vancouverites from all walks of life gathered in the Elks hall this afternoon to pay their last respects to Joseph F. Morris, well-known figure in city business and sporting circles, who died in hospital Thursday night.

SEEK TO ALTER POLICE BOARD

Vancouver Officials Would Apply Victoria System of Administration

Direct application will be made to the British Columbia Legislature by Vancouver for leave to change the city's charter to adopt the Victoria form of police commission. It is set out in the Mainland city's notice of private bill, published in this week's issue of The British Columbia Gazette.

Other important powers are to be asked for in the bill, including the right to assess Crown lands not in Crown custody; a two-year respite for the redemption by owners of lands in tax default this year; the regulation of motor vehicles playing for hire; power to take a civic census of industries and employees, and many minor changes.

ON VICTORIA LINES

The bill would amend Section 253 of the Vancouver Incorporation Act to set up a police commission, composed of a county court judge, the police magistrate, the mayor, and their deputies. All the powers now carried by the elective police commission would be given to the appointed body. It would also have power to honor distinguished citizens and visitors.

What appears as a cross-reference to the Solloway Mills case is contained in the following wording: "To amend Section 260 of the said act to provide that all fines, penalties and forfeitures under this act, or any law of the province, imposed within the city shall belong to the city."

FINE WENT TO B.C.

The Solloway Mills proceedings were taken by the province under the Security Frauds Prevention Act, a provincial statute, the fine subsequently going to the province. Provincial officials have already explained that under the code the disposition of the fine in the British Columbia was the only one possible.

Redefinition of the term "manufacture" for licensing purposes; right of control over the display of the building nomenclature and also of the architectural composition of new buildings, and many assorted powers are sought in the bill, notice of which was gazetted this week for the first time.

Spain Abolishes The Death Penalty

MADRID, Dec. 2 (AP).—Spain's new penal code, eradicating the death penalty and greatly increasing sentences for usury, is now in force.

The code establishes imprisonment "from twenty years and one day to thirty years" in place of the death penalty, and stipulates sentences of one to ten years, with large fines, for usury.

Disarmament Not An Act, but Reached In Progressive Way

Miss Winnifred Kydd Addresses Audience of 450 Women on "Personalities of Geneva Conference"—Two Societies Combine

SIR John Simon's new historic affirmation that "disarmament was not an act but a process reached by progressive stages" was quoted by Miss Winnifred Kydd, Canada's delegate to the Disarmament Conference in Geneva this year, in the address which she gave before an audience of more than 400 members of the Local Council of Women and the Women's Canadian Club at the Shrine Auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Presided over by Miss Grease, president of the Local Council, with Mrs. W. G. Wilson, president of the Women's Canadian Club, moving a gracious vote of thanks and presenting, on behalf of the combined societies, a beautiful sheaf of chrysanthemums to the speaker, the gathering followed with absorbed attention Miss Kydd's well-arranged and apt comments on "Personalities of the Conference," whom she had met during her more than four months' stay at Geneva.

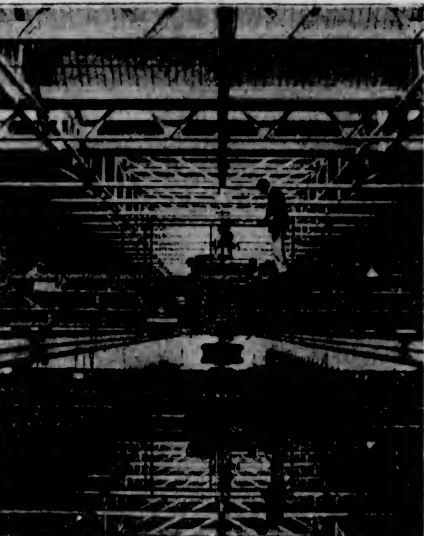

PERSONALITIES IMPORTANT
In studying the disarmament conference and the work of the League of Nations generally, there was a tendency to pay too much attention to the mechanics and the setting, overlooking the personalities, she commented at the beginning of her talk. It was very noticeable that only first-rank men were sent by all countries to the disarmament conference, men corresponding in position to prime ministers and foreign secretaries.

One of the foremost personalities was Sir John Simon, "one of the outstanding lawyers the century has

OTHER REPRESENTATIVES

India's delegate, the Aga Khan, a princely representative of the Muslim faith; Tardieu of France, who together with the fiery Paul Boncour, sustained the view that disarmament was a process, and not a sudden act; and the German, who advanced the thesis that the great powers of Europe should disarm down to the point set by them for Germany under the Treaty of Versailles; Litvinoff, the Union of Soviet republic delegate, who put forward the radical school of

An Ocean in Laboratory

MANY wonderful experiments are carried out at the National Physical Laboratory, Teddington, not the least being the testing of model ships. In the laboratory are two huge tanks—really miniature seas. Before a ship is built a wax model is made at the laboratory and put through rigid tests in these tanks. Photograph shows the traveling carriage, twin wax model attached, under test in the Alfred Yarrow tank at the National Physical Laboratory. The traveling carriage becomes, in effect, the bridge of the ship where records are made.

thought demand for immediate abolition of arms; Signor Grandi, of Italy, "just over forty, very young for a man who has risen to such prominence," was lately removed from the position of foreign secretary for Italy to fill the office of diplomat to the Court of St. James.

A special tribute was paid to the late Aristide Briand, of France, for although not actually present at the conference, his name would always be associated with any efforts at international understanding, as since the war he had been intimately connected with all discussions on international relationships. A second tribute was paid to Albert Thomas, head of the international labor office, "a man of marvelous intellectual gifts and peculiar charm of personality."

LORD ROBERT CECIL
Lord Robert Cecil, who spoke on behalf of the League of Nations societies throughout the world, a man who is devoting his entire time to the bettering of international relations, occupied a somewhat unique position at Geneva.

The five women present at the conference were also briefly referred to, in addition to herself there being Dr. Mary M. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, U.S.A., and the three substitutes from England, Uruguay and Poland.

SOUND EDUCATION

"We, as women, have a responsibility in regard to the promotion of sound education. Emotionalism has never brought about any reform unless coupled with real practical work," the speaker commented. The disarmament conference had not, in her opinion, failed, and would probably be reconvened early in the coming year. Those who sincerely hoped for its success must "dare bravely, think wisely and decide resolutely," not closing their eyes to the difficulties, and at all times bringing any influence to bear which might help to build up sentiment.

COUNCIL WORK

Miss Kydd devoted the first part of the afternoon to a short talk on the work of the National Council of Women, with reference to the more specialized activities of the individual branches, nearly all of which were giving time and energy at present to some phase of relief work. It was interesting to note the number of councils which were taking up civic education, aiming at the preparation of women as responsible citizens ready to take up administrative office or other posts of the kind.

Mrs. D. B. McConnan gave two charming vocal solos, "Ovenry Ten Yens Blues" (Massieu), and "The Birthday" (Woodman), Mrs. C. C. Wain accompanying skillfully. The stage had the attractive set-

THOMAS E. PERKINS PASSES AWAY HERE

The funeral of the late Thomas Edward Perkins, former well-known Victoria photographer, who passed away at the family residence, 351 Robertson Street, on Thursday evening, will be held at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Rev. J. H. A. Warr will officiate, after which the remains will be shipped to Vancouver for cremation.

Born in Quebec eighty-five years ago, Mr. Perkins came to Victoria from Toronto. He was a widely known photographer of this city in the eighties after which he lived for a short time on the Prairies.

He is survived by his widow at the family residence; two sons, Walter B. of Los Angeles, and Allan E. of Hollywood; two daughters, Mrs. Laura E. Perkins, of Yorkton, Sask., at present in Victoria, and Mrs. E. E. Bellamy, of Evanston, Ill.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Simple Rites to Be Conducted for Late F. M. Preston—Staff Mourns Loss

Funeral services for F. M. Preston will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony will be a simple one and not of a public character. Canon A. del. Nunn will officiate.

Yesterday the City Hall staff was oppressed by the shadow of gloom caused by the death of Mr. Preston, who, as engineer and water commissioner, was held in high regard by his colleagues.

The flag was flown at half mast at the City Hall, and the office in which he had worked for fourteen years was darkened by the drawing of the blinds.

LOSS IS MOURNED

On every hand one heard remarks of regret and sorrow and reminiscences of a kindly, courteous disposition. His reference also was remarked upon, and his friendly spirit toward all those with whom he came in contact were factors that cast a spell of sorrow over the City Hall.

Edwin C. Smith, city treasurer and senior employee of the city, paid tribute to his departed colleague. "I always knew Mr. Preston as a gentleman and a man of great capabilities," he said. "The loss will be keenly felt in the Hall."

HIGHLY HONORED

Identified with a firm of municipal engineers of high repute in England, Mr. Preston was admitted to membership in the Institute of Municipal Engineers in 1906. He came to this city in 1913 to join the engineering staff here, and within a few years became assistant engineer, and later, engineer. In all he saw twenty years' service with Victoria. Shortly after his arrival here, he became an associate member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and a certified member of the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia in 1926.

Besides his widow and fifteen-year-old daughter, Daphne, residing at 1590 Despard Avenue, Mr. Preston was survived by his mother and brother, Dr. A. W. Preston, and an older sister, Mrs. Edmund Cartwright, in England. Mrs. Preston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sutcliffe, live at 1542 Wilmut Place.

After the funeral service this afternoon, the remains will be sent to Vancouver for cremation.

MRS. MARTHA BOWERS DIES IN HOSPITAL

Hedley and Clifford at home; four brothers: James Nobbs, of Ontario; Charles and Frank Nobbs, of this city; and Harry Nobbs, of Ganges. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Limited Chapel, and will be removed on Monday morning to Salpurg Island, where services will be conducted at 1:30 o'clock at the United Church, Ganges, by Rev. George Dean. The remains will be laid at rest in the Central Cemetery.

FUNERAL ON MONDAY

The funeral of Richard Tomlin, who passed away Thursday evening at St. Joseph's Hospital, will take place Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Limited Chapel. Louis A. Winner will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

EGGS GAVE HER INDIGESTION

"When this woman of seventy-two years found a remedy for her indigestion, it proved to be one her seventy-year-old brother was already using to keep him 'a perfect picture of health,'" she writes.

"For years I had suffered with indigestion, and simply could not eat an egg or a potato. I took an aperient regularly, but still I suffered. I began this year taking a small dose of Kruschen's Salts. Now I can eat eggs and potatoes and enjoy them, without any after-trouble."

"My brother is a perfect picture of health, and a splendid advertisement for Kruschen's Salts. He is always bright and happy. He never forgets his morning dose—neither do I, now that I know the value of it. My brother is seventy years of age, and I am seventy-two years. We have reason to bless these valuable salts. I recommend them to all my friends."—(Mrs.) M. E. M.

The salts in Kruschen's Salts stimulate and tune up the bodily functions from a number of different angles. Your stomach, liver and kidneys all feel the immediate benefit. You forget indigestion, headache and depression in a new feeling of physical and mental exhilaration. (Adv.)

ASKS INCREASE IN SILVER COIN

J. A. Griffith Presents Proposal to Realty Board for Replacing Paper Bills

The proposal fathered by J. A. Griffith for urging the Dominion Government to call in a large part of the paper currency now in circulation and to replace it with silver coinage was placed before the Real Estate Board yesterday. Mr. Griffith appeared before the board and presented the matter himself. It was referred to a special committee to be named and will be reported upon at the next meeting of the board.

The matter had been taken up in Vancouver, and Thomas McInnes had supported it before the Board of Trade there. Mr. McInnes had suggested the government purchase from the provincial mines 60,000,000 ounces of silver, which would be minted into silver dollars. The profit to the government would be something like $40,000,000. It was estimated that 5,000 men would be put to work as a result of the move. Mr. Griffith pointed out that paper money, which represented little or nothing in value, had to be replaced in about ten months' time. He had ascertained that there would be no legislation necessary in the matter of minting silver.

THREE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Leaves Highway and Hits Tree—J. Brandon Taken to Hospital

Three persons were injured in an accident on the West Saanich Road yesterday evening, when an automobile owned by James Brandon, of Brentwood Bay, skidded on the wet pavement, 200 yards east of the Prospect Lake store, and crashed into a tree.

Mr. Brandon was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the C. & C. Ambulance, suffering from head injuries. He was attended by Dr. J. P. Vye. Hospital attendants reported last night that his condition was not serious.

Mrs. Brandon, Jr., received severe cuts and bruises and suffered from shock. She was taken home after being given first aid by Chief of Police Allan Rankin and Constable John Bull, of the Saanich force.

Mrs. Brandon, Sr., also was badly shaken and bruised, but was able to come home. A child, who was an occupant of the car, escaped without injuries.

The machine when it skidded turned completely around and left the highway for thirty-five yards before crashing into the tree. The car was badly wrecked.

EARLY ITALIAN ART DEPICTED

Professor A. C. Cook, of University of B.C. Addresses Local Extension Society

Professor A. C. Cook, of the University of British Columbia, in his address before the University Extension Association here, altered the subject of his lecture to "Early Italian Art in the Fifteenth Century." This date was selected by the speaker for the reason that it was about this time that change was taking place from what would be regarded as the medieval age to that of the modern.

The speaker traced the history of the revolution which marked the passing from the middle ages to that which could be classified as modern times. Simultaneously there went on revolutions in the economic, political, social and intellectual lives of the people.

The guilds, which had exercised such authority over the economic life of Europe, met with troubles and the task of becoming a master workman in any of the lines represented by the guilds became more difficult. There began to develop troublesome relations between employer and the employee. Capital, whether accumulated by trade or by other means began to exercise a place even in the political field.

FOSTERED ART

The gaining of wealth through-out Europe was attended with a fostering of art on the part of those in possession of money. There was an apparent decline in the religious and moral life. More secularism was manifested.

The upsurge up in this age a wonderful development in an intellectual, an artistic and a literary way. The Renaissance as it developed its outlet in literary and artistic mediums. The aesthetic was aroused in the population and a period of marked activity in all these lines was noticeable throughout the continent.

The value of the art of this period was of immense value to the historian. There was depicted in the works of these artists that arose a knowledge of the various outlooks upon the life of the period. This included the ideas which the people of the age had of historic subjects that belonged to preceding times. As illustrating this the speaker threw upon the screen a number of slides consisting of photographs of many of these works of the artists of the fifteenth century who flourished in Italy and who left wonderful works.

WILL NOT ALTER RELIEF SYSTEM

Saanich Refuses to Accept New Provincial Scheme Despite Lower Costs

No alteration will be made by Saanich in its present system of unemployment relief despite the new system offered by the Provincial Government, which would slightly reduce annual relief costs, the municipal council decided Thursday night.

A copy of the new scale was received at the meeting and Reeve William Crouch explained that in company with the municipal relief officer and clerk, he had gone into it thoroughly and found that its operation in Saanich would mean slight reduction in relief costs.

SUPPORT SUGGESTION

While this was so, he continued, it would not be worth while to change the municipal system, which has operated well to date, since the provincial scale would only last until March 31, next year. This suggestion was supported by the council.

In considering the two scales, Reeve Crouch pointed out that a man with two children did not receive quite as much a month under the municipal scale as under the new provincial system. Families of five or more children received more from the municipality, however, he added. The slight decrease in Saanich payment was compensated by the fact that the council offered medical service, and in some cases supplied milk and fuel, he said.

BRITAIN'S WARNING

The kernel of Britain's Note to the United States on the subject of war debts is contained in the statement that if America insists on the payment due on December 15 Britain will be forced to adopt measures for restricting imports of American goods. This is not a challenge or a provocative utterance. It is a plain statement of fact, that Britain must defend herself; that she will have to adopt a course which will place her in a better position to meet her obligations, and that in the process the United States cannot fail to suffer in her trade.

The British Note sets out in unequivocal language the reasons why there should be suspension of the payment due this month and a conference to discuss the revision of war debts. It is emphasized that the adherence of the United States to the status quo before the Hoover Moratorium would deepen depression in world trade and lead to further falls in commodity prices. In effect the belief expressed in the British Note is that suspension of the coming payment is essential if the whole question of revision is to be viewed in a proper atmosphere.

In the public utterances of American politicians it has been emphasized again and again that the war debt situation must be viewed from an American angle with all regard paid to American interests. In fact the political attitude is one of self interest, without due attention being paid to world interest upon which American well being depends. Nothing is more calculated to induce the political attitude in the United States to undergo a change than the statement in the British Note that there will be a restriction of American imports to Britain if the letter of the bond for the payment of war debts remains unchanged. The United Kingdom is the best customer of the United States. The depression in the United States is due very largely to the losses that country has experienced in world trade. She cannot afford to lose her trade connections with Britain. That would bring about a substantial increase in unemployment, which is relatively greater in the United States than in any other country.

The situation is clearly defined. Not only has Britain pointed out that, in comparison with the United States, in a monetary sense, she has made by far the greater sacrifices, but that two-thirds of the United Kingdom's war expenditures in the United States were financed either by the sale of gold and securities, or else by commercial loans. The latter have been mostly repaid. Of the British debt to the United States only one-third, or £800,000,000, was financed by inter-governmental loans. Britain advanced loans to her allies in the late war which aggregated four-fifths of the total loaned by the United States. The latter country has received a sum of $434,000,444 in repayment; Britain has received nothing.

The issue is now clearly before the American politicians. If they insist on the payment due on December 15 Britain will devote herself to the task of redressing the adverse balance of trade between the United Kingdom and the United States. That adverse balance amounted to $78,000,000 in 1931. There is not a shadow of doubt that the British Government can do what it says it will do. It is not only governmental action that will restrict purchases of American goods, but the trading interests of Britain as a whole will co-operate in every possible way. The United States will lose more than she can gain by the payment of the war debt on the present basis. The outcome of an unchangeable opinion in the United States would simply involve another effort in a new direction on the part of the British people, and all their history shows that when an emergency comes they are quite capable of rising to its heights and of accomplishing any purpose to which they set their hands.

A ZEALOUS CITY ENGINEER

All those who admire zeal and efficiency, coupled with conscientiousness in the discharge of duty and the most constant attention paid to that duty to the exclusion of almost all other interests, will mourn the passing of Mr. F. M. Preston, City Engineer. There is no post in a civic administration more exacting, more subject to criticism and requiring more concentration than that which Mr. Preston occupied. The onerous character of the duties has been intensified since unemployment developed. In fact the City Engineer's department has had worry superimposed on worry, and it is conceivable that the seriousness with which the late Mr. Preston took his work, and the time and energy which he displayed in carrying it out, brought about the sudden illness which resulted in his death.

Mr. Preston was wrapped up in his work. He had little time for social amenities but he was always courteousness itself to all the men with whom he came into contact. He was an indefatigable worker, and his retiring disposition was undoubtedly a factor in his power of concentration on his manifold tasks. To say that he was a successful incumbent of the office is to do him no more than common justice. He had more than the average engineering ability and again and again proved himself a civic asset. Personally he shunned publicity, although it could not be avoided in connection with his office. There is, in fact, no office under civic administration in which there is so much interference as that of the City Engineer, and very often that interference is of a regrettable character where the incumbent is so well versed in his duties as was Mr. Preston. In his office he bore all the interference and the criticism that are inseparable from municipal affairs in the most sporting spirit though no doubt it often ranked with the pride which he had in his profession. As is so often the case, now he has gone, the people will be better able to estimate the work which he did for the municipality and the self-sacrificing devotion which marked his carrying out of every task.

Mr. Preston will be sorely missed and it will be no easy matter to find a successor imbued with the same admirable characteristics. He was the embodiment of the principle that a man's life work, no matter where his lot is cast, is a process of graduation in which success is achieved by sticking to a job and making every experience count in the accumulation of knowledge. The late City Engineer showed throughout his career here that his sole purpose was to safeguard civic interests and to give all that was best in him to the discharge of his duties. The deepest sympathy of the whole community and of the engineering profession in the province will go out to his widow and daughter who survive.

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

There are growing indications that the project known as the St. Lawrence Waterways Development, which has been the subject of a treaty between Canada and the United States, will go by the board with the defeat of the Republicans in the late presidential election. There is no possibility that the draft of that treaty will be submitted to the Canadian Parliament within the near future. It is unlikely to form an issue before the American Congress at its session this month. What was proposed was an un-economic expenditure and an arrangement which would have menaced national autonomy by giving the United States joint control of a Canadian waterway. Public sentiment has been against the venture throughout. It was one of the planks in President Hoover's election platform and he has gone down to a stunning defeat. That defeat can be interpreted as an indication of American apathy, or opposition, to the St. Lawrence development. From the American standpoint the treaty was framed for the benefit of localized interests. Those interests continue to fight hard for its recognition but the forces arrayed against them are too great. The treaty has, in effect, been defeated by public sentiment on both sides of the international boundary.

Despite the diatribes of Mr. Mackenzie King there has not been a shadow of compulsion in the trade agreements negotiated at the Imperial Conference. They were all framed by the free will of the parties concerned. There was no suggestion of coercion from any quarter. There was, in fact, unfettered local choice, and each of the nations of the Empire sought to do what was best for itself, while at the same time endeavoring to promote inter-Imperial trade. Agreements of this character are at least worth a substantial trial. They would be given no such trial if Mr. Mackenzie King and his followers had their way.

SABBATH TWILIGHT

A Sabbath stillness broods over all the land—The softly muted hills afar, are blue.
The sunset fires by fairy hands are fanned,
The hazy marshes cold and wet with dew.
A cricket chirps, a plaintive robin sings,
And gleaming where the sun has sunk to rest
Beneath the sombre twilight's wide grey wings,
A single brilliant star shines in the West.
A vague wind whispers to the nodding trees
While Night in sable robes comes out to greet
And like a priestess chants on bended knees
Her rosy that puts sweet day to rest.
Nature's cathedral filled with fragrant balm,
I feel His presence in this hallowed calm.
—Annette Thomas, Botha, Alberta.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM

Nothing appears to be more just than the protest that has been made against giving legislative effect to certain recommendations contained in the report of the Duff Commission on Transportation, notably the one that, in effect, would, through the powers it is proposed to give to the arbitral board, take from the Canadian Pacific Company the right of control over its own property. It would be regrettable were a great company to be made to suffer through an investigation which was for so long demanded. But it may be possible to solve the problem by the creation of an arbitral board whose president would occupy the position of omnipotence. It is proposed to give him in the draft legislation now before the Senate committee. It may be more practicable to propose a compromise which would make the contemplated more acceptable to the C.P.R.—Le Soleil, Quebec.

Note and Comment

By R. H. D.

There are none so blind as those who will not see.—Old Proverb.

This document is a treasure. It is a fiscal fraud, a fake perpetrated on the consumers of Canada—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, speaking in Winnipeg.

The political outposts of Vancouver selected a treasure, a pearl beyond price, when they elected Hon. Ian Mackenzie to succeed Hon. H. H. Stevens as representative of the most important part of British Columbia in the Canadian House of Commons. Mr. Mackenzie is a master of invective, is probably without a peer in the fine political art of vituperation—and that is saying something in these days when the forces of Liberalism are raging in the Valley of Humiliation—but all he knows about either the actual political or the economic situation in Canada or any other part of the world could be packed in his Highland bonnet with the red tassel on it.

We have heard it said, and although we hesitate to repeat the saying, nevertheless it is true, that there are no people so impervious to ideas as Scots who have the misfortune to be born and imported with political bees in their bonnets. In the case of Hon. Ian Mackenzie the buzzing bee happens to be a wasp—and as that the insect happens to have got into the bonnet by accident. It just happened when the worthy gentleman arrived in this country there was a Liberal government in power with every prospect of staying in power, and the prospects of a political soldier of fortune appeared to be brighter if enlisted in the ranks of the ruling party than if cast in the files of the opposing party. So we have in Canada a modern political Dugald Dalgetty.

In declaring that the Imperial preferential trade pact was a fraud and a fake perpetrated upon the consumers of Canada the hon. gentleman was not even saying the original thing. Another member of Parliament had said it before him. The inference to be drawn from the statement was that under the pact the consumers of Canada were being compelled to pay higher prices for the products they consumed than would have had to pay if the policies of St. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King had been permitted to remain in force. That statement has been demonstrated to be absolutely untrue, for the cost of living is lower in Canada today probably than ever it was in the history of the country. It is not the high cost of living that is affecting the consumers of Canada. It is the low cost of everything produced in Canada, and the depression will never pass until something is accomplished that all governments are trying to bring about—an increase in prices of all products.

The problem engaging the minds of all real statesmen today is not the problem of what we have to buy, but the problem of what we have to sell and the prices which we have to get for what we have to sell. Well, we see by the Eastern papers that as a result of the pact an ocean-going steamship was loaded recently at the port of St. Catharines, Ont., with a complete cargo of farm products destined for the markets of Great Britain. In connection with this matter there happens to be an interesting story. St. Catharines is one of the oldest ports in Canada, but for many years there had not been a ship seen in the harbor, owing, we believe, to enlargements and improvements being carried out in the historic Welland Canal.

So when the first ship arrived in St. Catharines to carry the first consignment of goods direct to Great Britain, that was a gala day for the old city, and the citizens celebrated the day in grand style. There was a civic banquet of course, and speeches were made, but no resolutions were passed. Nearly all the Eastern newspapers, excepting of course the newspapers which have been proclaiming woe and desolation as a result of the adoption of Imperial preferential trade, have commented upon the good fortune in store for St. Catharines and that part of Ontario contiguous to the city. Following is the comment of The Ottawa Journal:

"We imagine those opposing with all their resources the new trade agreement with the United Kingdom would have some difficulty in persuading the people of St. Catharines that Canada is about to be ruined by this treaty. The other day Canadian Canners, Limited, dispatched from St. Catharines to the British market a shipload of Canadian fruits and vegetables in tins. It was the largest shipment of such goods ever sent from Canada to Britain, the first shipment which provided complete cargo to a freight vessel, and it was a direct result of the opportunity created in the United Kingdom market by the agreement secured for Canada by the recent Imperial Conference." Mr. W. R. Dryden, general manager of Canadian Canners, calling the shipment a concrete example of definite results being obtained from the Imperial Economic Conference, added this pertinent observation:

"The benefits of this increased business are by no means confined to this company. On the contrary, there are hundreds of farmers from whom we purchase farm products who will be enriched by this business. It also means increased employment in our numerous canning plants—increased employment for the can manufacturers, the printers who print the labels, the mills that make the packing cases and the hundred and one contributing industries."

"A practical illustration of this sort that the agreement is getting results is an effective answer to all the criticism offered by the Opposition in Parliament."

Where blanks occur in the table, the tide is either high or low, continuous during two successive tidal periods without turning. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt dock at any tide, add 18.4 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt dock add 10 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of December 3, 1882)

Many friends here will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. A. Watson, wife of A. Watson, who came to Victoria as cashier of the Bank of British Columbia in 1859, and who was at one time treasurer of the old colony of Vancouver Island.

At the Princess Louise was passing the orphanage several days ago, a small child named over the balcony and called "My Princess." Inspired by the relating of this incident, Alexander Bond Proust, has written a lovely poem, adopting the child's phrase as the title.

Captain East and the officers of H.M.S. Comus gave a very pleasant reunion dance at the naval yard, Esquimalt, yesterday afternoon. There were more than seventy-five couples present. His Excellency the Governor-General and Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise were the guests of honor.

SAYS BUDGET UNBALANCED

E. B. Andros, Mayorality Candidate, Declares Statement is "Election Cry"

"The taxpayers of Victoria should not be carried away by this election cry of a balanced budget," declared E. B. Andros, in a campaign address to the electors at a meeting in Oaklands School last night.

"How can the present administration declare a balanced budget by borrowing for current expenditures and sinking fund? How long would private business exist with a balanced budget of that kind?" Mr. Andros asked.

The meeting was attended by 131 residents of the Oaklands district. It was the last of a series of meetings conducted by Mr. Andros in all parts of the city, and was the concluding appeal to the outgoing sections of the community. His final meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Andros last night contented himself with a review of his own platform and his desire to reduce taxation by cutting out nonessential expenditures. He also made reference to what he considered was the tendency of civic administration to pass on the burdens of the present to the generations of the future, by refunding debentures and borrowing by bond issue.

"Why should our responsibilities be shifted on to the shoulders of our children, whose outlook at the present time is certainly not very hopeful?" he asked. "Would it not be better to show courage and determination and face the present difficulties in a true British spirit?"

Mr. Andros said that he was not a "complaining bitterly" because he has to defend himself in this election, but he must remember that elections are being held all over the world and that the old order of things is changing. The voice of the people is crying out for economies to be practised in every direction, and there is a general expressed dissatisfaction with the old regime. Note what has happened in many cities in Western Canada where the usual standard of living is set. It is a sign of the times in which we are living," Mr. Andros declared.

"There is a growing feeling among the people that the present situation is one of the most serious in our history," Mr. Andros averred. "The people, through their representatives in placing men in office who will legislate for all classes instead of special groups. Mayor Leeming is endeavoring to clutter this campaign with a maze of figures that to the average voter, means little or nothing. We have but to stop thinking in millions and come down to earth and a common sense system of administration," he said.

Dealing again with the publicity grant, Mr. Andros said he believed it was absolutely nonessential in these troublous times. "I have said that we must go out after the tourists in 1933. The prospect of tourists for 1933 is a delusion and a snare. This year's tourist season is away with the amount devoted to reduction of the tax rate or used to assist the unemployment problem."

Mr. Andros said he was most emphatically that if elected, he would favor spending $22,500 for publicity next year," he said.

MAY BE JAILED FOR 1916 DEBT

Commitment Order Given by Supreme Court Judge Here is Effective Next Wednesday

An order for commitment to a common jail for the period of ten days for failure to obey judgment for the payment of a debt, was issued in an order of the Supreme Court here yesterday morning by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in his chambers.

The order made yesterday is the first in several years in Victoria. Mr. Justice McDonald remarked he was not in the habit of making such an order of this kind especially in such a case as this, but he felt it was the duty of the courts to afford some measure of protection, or assistance to creditors whose rights were upheld in law.

DEBT OF 1916

The debt in question in the court yesterday was for $1,097 and interest. It was assumed in 1916 in an agreement for sale of lands, but no effort was made to collect the debt until a few years ago. The debtor claimed he was not in business and that his earnings for this year had not exceeded $421. He denied the allegation that he was conducting the business in his name.

The judgment creditor secured an order on June 1st against the debtor, which required him to pay $25 a month until the judgment was satisfied. This, it was claimed, had not been obeyed. However, the debtor had been taken into custody and cannot be taken out until next Wednesday, and in the meantime some settlement may be effected by the parties, it was intimated by counsel.

WARD MEETINGS ARE CONCLUDED

Candidates for Civic Offices Address Ratepayers in Oaklands School

Candidates seeking election to vacant seats on the civic administrative boards, completed their tour of the various districts last night with a well attended meeting at Oaklands School. The meeting ended one of the most intensive election campaigns ever conducted in the outlying districts.

The candidates spoke in the following order:

F. J. CROWHURST

F. J. Crowhurst, candidate for the City Council, at the outset paid tribute to the late P. M. Preston, city engineer. Resuming his address, Mr. Crowhurst said that in these times there must be economies consistent with the demands of the people. Mr. Crowhurst made an appeal, not heretofore mentioned in the campaign, for returned soldier representation on the City Council. He intimated that it was necessary in the legislation of affairs of the community.

A. D. R. T. WILLIAMS

Alderman R. T. Williams, seeking re-election to the council, urged support of the ratepayers to those whom they have elected to office and insist that members of the council carry out the wishes of the people as a whole. He again referred to the value of sweepstakes to assist in the cost of social services. Alderman Williams said he was not opposed to advertising, but he would be to any grant to publicity without first securing the endorsement of the ratepayers.

CHARLES CHIVERS

Charles Chivers, who is seeking election to the council, urged endorsement of the Trades and Labour Council, reviewed the uncontrolled expenditures and said that the unemployment problem constituted the major expenditure of municipalities today. Labor, he stated, had frequently demanded that unemployment be a complete waste mentioned a number of the taxes levied upon small wage earners and maintained that the taxes should be reduced to the minimum. He asked support for election to the council so that Labor would have representation to carry out the wishes of all classes.

ARTHUR HINDER

Arthur Hinder, candidate for the council, and former secretary of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, said he knew what the taxpayers were suffering in Victoria and their insistent demands during the past year for relief from any increase in 1933. Mr. Hinder reported on the number of jobs now reverted to the city for nonpayment of taxes and then compared the number sold by the land department during the past year. He did not agree with those who claimed the present council had a balanced budget when thousands of dollars had been borrowed during 1932.

FRANK LE ROY

Frank LeRoy, who is a candidate for the City Council, declared the small home owners could never expect to get relief until the ratepayers forced a complete house cleaning in the City Council. "The mayor has intimated there must be an increase in taxation next year. When he refused to say what his intention was concerning the raising of the improvement tax, which the council has authority to do," Mr. LeRoy stated. "If you ever, throughout this campaign, had chance to hear what these aldermen have to tell you on any platform outside of the centre of the city, with the exception of Alderman Williams," he asked. He severely criticized those aldermen for failure to report the programme to the electorate, and also charged that they were afraid of the questions that might be asked them.

MRS. ALICE MCGREGOR

Mrs. Alice McGregor, who is seeking election to the aldermanic board, said she could support the platform of Mr. Andros wholeheartedly. She mentioned the vast number of things needed in the improvement of the city in the way of improvements. "It seems that the present mayor and aldermen have very little use for the ratepayers' except to collect taxes from them," she stated. Mentioning the publicity grant, Mrs. McGregor said the majority of the professional men were never consulted about any increase in the licences. She asserted that it was one of the "biggest lies in this campaign" that tradesmen had volunteered an increase of their own tax. "It's a real bunco game if you ask me," Mrs. McGregor exclaimed.

WALTER INWARD

Walter Inward, candidate for the City Council, stated his platform was one that could be supported and supported by the electors. His platform is: Abolish the two-year system for aldermen; revert to the ward system of electing candidates; inquiry into the water scheme, and special provisions for the care of the unemployed. He would form a special committee of three women and three men who live in the city and the distressed would be able to present their cases and there would be no special privileges in the administration of relief, he stated.

ANDREW MCGAVIN

Andrew McGavin, who is seeking election to the City Council, said he would not go into the affairs of the former police commission, of which he was a member. Instead he gave a statement of why he was in the field this year. "It was," he said, "to preserve the sanctity of the ballot and to secure an expression of protest against the actions of the present administration."

C. H. McMillan

C. H. McMillan, candidate for Council, stated he was a former resident of the Oaklands district and was fully aware of the needs of the area. He attacked the increase in improvement taxes and styled it "a subsidy to the ownership of vacant properties held for speculation." Mr. McMillan referred to water rates, which he said, should be adjusted. "The question of publicity is well taken care of by the transportation

Police Ball Draws Throng of Dancers To Empress Hotel

Hundreds of Guests Attend Brilliant Affair—Decorations and General Arrangements Admirably Carried Out by Dance Committee

THE annual police ball has for many years been regarded as one of the most outstanding of the social functions given in the city, and last evening a throng of about 1,200 dancers entered into the spirit of the occasion with evident enjoyment.

The ballroom had been most effectively decorated under the direction of Chief Petty Officer Girdlestone, and the walls with their gay flags and signal banners, the lights, and the ever-moving crowd of dancers made a scene of unmistakable beauty. The augmented orchestra played an excellent programme of dance music, many of the old favorites being given as encores to the more popular and up-to-date tunes.

Supper was served in the main dining-room, and the general management of the dance arrangements did much towards preventing any over-crowding, and the comfort and enjoyment of the guests was due to the splendid organization. Chief Thomas Healey was honorary chairman; the management committee included Sergeant B. Acreman (chairman), Detectives Walter Calwell, Henry Jarvis and Harvey Bamford; Sergeant Florence was in charge of the refreshment committee; Sergeant Thomas Hall was master of ceremonies, assisted by Constable J. Peterson; the ticket committee included Constables Richards, Wilkinson, Blackstock, Stevenson, Clayards, Donaldson and Callan. Mrs. E. Gillingham took charge of the ladies' cloakroom.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with masses of orange and mauve chrysanthemums. Mrs. Muckle presented Mrs. Penketh with a handsome purse from the members of Lodge 83, Daughters of St. George. A handsome birthday cake formed the central motif of the prettily decorated table, from which a buffet supper was served. Cards were played and the winners were: Mrs. Nunn, Mrs. H. Penketh, Mrs. Mallow and Mrs. Jeeves. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Penketh, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Catholic Bazaar Is A Success

The three-day bazaar in aid of St. Andrew's Cathedral funds, which was concluded this evening, and there are still a number of most attractive and useful articles on the stalls, which had been well stocked with tempting novelties suitable for Christmas gifts, with delicious cakes and home-made dainties and many contests were arranged for the entertainment of the guests. Mrs. W. C. McKenna, president of Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League, was general convener of the bazaar, and the opening ceremony was performed on Thursday afternoon by Rev. Father Wood in the St. Ann's Kindergarten building, Blanshard and View Streets.

PRETTY DECORATIONS

The decorations are truly festive and in Christmas spirit, with evergreen and scarlet berries and poinsettias. A Christmas tree is on the stage, which had been decorated by Mrs. V. McKenna. Assisting Miss E. O'Brien with the tree was Miss de Trafford, Miss McKay, Mrs. O'Brien, Miss O'Connor and Miss Leach. Mrs. P. Kelly, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Webb have their ice cream stall on the stage and the Christmas cake is in charge of Mrs. Robert and Mrs. V. Devereaux.

The fancywork and plain sewing stall with its bright foliage is in charge of Mrs. H. D. Scallan, Mrs. Mahoney, Mrs. J. W. Burns, Mrs. J. D. Kissinger and Mrs. Doyle; the novelty stall, in a striking design of black and white, with a large spray of flowers and autumn berries forming an archway, is in charge of Mrs. Harry Hartnell and Mrs. G. A. Hart, assisted by Miss Doherty; the miscellaneous stall, decorated in ferns, is in charge of Mrs. C. H. Beneman and Mrs. Sullivan, and here a picture of Mrs. Bridges attracts much attention; the home cooking stall, decorated in blue and gold, is in charge of Mrs. H. Cannon, Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. O'Connell, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Webb.

The candy stall, in charge of the Junior League and Children of Mary, is in the conservatory of Patricia McLennan. The country store, in charge of Mrs. A. Grant, Mrs. McLennan, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Howard, is attractive in its gold decorations. The refreshments, including afternoon tea and supper, are being served in a seasonably decorated room, a screen of ivy, holly and poinsettias surrounding it on three sides, and the small tables centred with bronze chrysanthemums, Mrs. G. A. Morry, as general convener, with Mrs. J. P. Hourigan, Mrs. Hood, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Gills, Mrs. Haley and Mrs. Neary. Serving yesterday were the Misses Nora O'Connell, Leonora Fletcher and Alice Hunter, with Mrs. de Blaquiere as treasurer. The contests are in charge of Mrs. Blair Reid and E. M. Cavin.

Bazaar Held by Esquimalt Women

Mrs. J. Nichol opened the bazaar of the Esquimalt United Church last night at 7:30 o'clock in the schoolroom, which had been decorated in Yuletide colors of green and red. She was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the ladies of the church. A musical programme was arranged by the ladies, which added to the enjoyment of the affair.

A decorated Christmas tree, the feature of the evening, was laden with gifts which were sold by the members of the Sunday school under the supervision of Miss Willing. The ladies in charge of the various stalls were: Mrs. P. Wallace and Mrs. W. Thompson, home cooking; Mrs. A. Goodwin and Mrs. W. R. Brown, fancy sewing; Mrs. A. Deaville and Miss Bessie Deaville, novelties, and Mrs. Bert Hughes and Miss Margaret Rood, candy. The proceeds will go towards the mortgage fund of the church.

Institute Officials Appointed

Mrs. N. E. Fairweather was elected president of the Victoria Women's Institute at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Burns Hall, with Mrs. J. L. White in the chair. During the election of officers, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial president, took the chair. Others named to office for 1933 were Mrs. P. Spurgeon, vice-president; Mrs. N. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Gus Brown, secretary, and Mrs. D. Ramsay, director.

The treasurer reported a satisfactory balance. Several conveners gave brief reports and suggestions. Mrs. W. Peden spoke of the progress of the children in the Solarium, in whom the institute has taken a great interest.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The directors' report covered briefly the year's work, which included several demonstrations of domestic science judging and competitions, three concerts given under the auspices of the institute, one at the Aged Women's Home last winter by the Orlana Madrigal Group; one in June, in the T.B. Ward of the Jubilee Hospital by the Boys' Band, conducted by Mr. G. H. E. Green, and another one in July, which was given in the ward by the Hudson's Bay Beaver Club, arranged by Miss Grace Allen.

Among the many speakers heard during the year were Dr. Richard Felton, city medical officer, on "Public Health"; Alderman H. O. Litchfield, "Early History of Victoria's Civic Affairs," and Mr. R. Dilworth, principal of the High School, on "Aims and Objects of Education."

Votes of thanks were given to several members who had done useful work during the year, especially the sick committee. The retiring president, Mrs. J. L. White, spoke on some of the activities and thanked the executive, the conveners and the committee workers for co-operation. At the conclusion of her report, on behalf of the members, Mrs. J. D. Gordon presented her with a tall silver flower basket filled with large white and mauve chrysanthemums. Mrs. White expressed the pleasure she had had in her association with the institute.

Will Auction Doll's House for Carnival

In connection with the carnival to be held today at the Armories in aid of the Unemployed Women's Workroom, a very beautiful doll's house will be auctioned at 5:30 p.m. by F. E. Winslow.

Intending patrons are again reminded that "jitter dancing" is to be a feature of the entertainment, this to be a novelty which, it is anticipated, will appeal to the younger patrons particularly.

WORK EXPECTED FROM CAMP UNIT

Cutting of Wood and Execution of Chores Part of Routine, Says Hon. R. W. Bruhn

Men in British Columbia relief camps will be expected to do a certain amount of work for their keep, and so far have shown every desire to do so, it was stated by Hon. R. W. Bruhn, in outlining the policy that will be followed this winter.

The men will be expected to cut firewood, where this is available, and to do all necessary chores about camp, in return for their board. In a few camps where no wood is immediately available the wood has been supplied, but in the great majority of the camps the men have willingly cut and split all wood necessary for the operation of the camps.

The comment of the Minister of Works followed a statement made in Vancouver by a voluntary committee that toured certain camps, and, in returning, made reference to conditions they found in the camps visited.

A chance reference by the party to a radio that had been privately loaned to one camp, made men in other camps desirous of having the same comforts. This could only be accomplished through private endeavor, however, through the kind offices of those interested in the welfare of the men, as the Government's programme does not run to radios, the minister explained.

Church Personals

The nonagenarians seem to be having their innings in the press. Last month a minister in Vancouver, Rev. James Lyons, formerly of the Irish Primitive Methodist Church, was stated to have taken part in the church service of Marpole United Church on the day before his nineteenth birthday. At the Armistice service at Lindfield Church, Buxton, Rev. F. Willett, aged ninety-four, preached ten minutes without a note. And now that veteran militant churchman, Lord Halifax, leader of the Anglo-Catholic party in the Church of England, and father of Lord Irwin, ex-Viceroy of India, was present at a recent meeting of the Middleton Hunt at Garrowby. While not taking part in the actual hunting, Lord Halifax rode about for more than an hour.

Gordon Fields, of Fairfield United Church, and Charles McLeod, of Centennial, are mentioned in "The Mentor of Toronto," the organ of the boys' work of the Religious Education Council of Canada, as candidates for the premiership of the Tuxis Boys' Parliament of British Columbia, which will be held in the Legislative Chamber during the Christmas holidays. The first Boys' Parliament was held in Toronto in 1917 under the direction of Taylor Statten.

Rev. John Antle, of the Columbia Coast Mission, is presenting to the Anglican churches in England during the next two or three months the work of this mission. Bishop Perrin, formerly of the diocese of Columbia, commends this cause in a letter to the Church of England press. Mr. Antle expects to return in time for the Christmas cruise of the Columbia.

Rev. James Barr, a member of the British House of Commons during the recent Labor Government, but who was returned at the last election, will take charge of the United Free Church (Continuing) at Govan. He is one of the leaders of this body, which consists of the Free Church group that did not join in the Church of Scotland union of 1929.

The new editor of Punch, E. V. Knox, is the son of Dr. E. A. Knox, formerly Bishop of Manchester and now living in retirement in Kent. He contributed to Punch under the title of "Evoc." He succeeds Sir Owen Beaman.

Dr. Norman MacLean, one of the leaders of the Church of Scotland, has aroused considerable criticism by the publication of his book, "Can Death Sever?" in which he argues the case, according to The Scots Observer, for "survival" and prayers for the dead.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

STILL A GUESS
I recently received a very interesting hand from Mr. Lewis R. Ayres, one of Philadelphia's leading players. It is a hand on which the declarer quite correctly lays the groundwork for an elimination play. However, when this done, he is left with a complete guess as to which hand to throw in for the successful culmination of the coup. The hand, a very interesting one indeed, follows:

South-Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♥ A 4 2
♦ Q J 10 8 6 5 3
♣ K 2

♠ J 10 3
♥ J 10 9 8
♦ 7 6
♣ K 8 7 3

♠ A 7 2
♥ K 5 3
♦ A K 9 4 2

THE BIDDING
(Figures after bids in table refer to number of explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
1♣ Pass 2♣(1) 3♠
2NT Pass 3♣(2) Pass
6♣ Pass Pass Pass

1. North suspects South's diamond bid to be a psychic and therefore withholds two raises to see what South has to say.
2. North now knows that South's opening bid was sound after the three no trump bid, which, of course, is a very strong bid. He therefore gives the full strength of his hand in the raise to five diamonds.
On the play West opened the heart knave; South won the trick.

STATION L-O-V-E BY CRAIG CARROLL

CHAPTER XXXIII
The audition for Dick's show went on. A man for the father's part. A father something like what Dick had imagined Judy's father would be. But it wouldn't matter, so long as the job was well done, well acted. So that was settled quickly.

Now came the task of selecting the voice which must answer Norma—the hero's part. The voice mouthed the words brutally, jerkily. "No," David Owen said for Dick. "No, Jimmy, you try it." And again the word was "No." And still again. And again. The words had been written for one man, written better than Dick Mason knew—written so well that nobody else in the world but that one man ought to say them. And perhaps Owen guessed this truth. Perhaps he knew much more, understood much more than he let Dick realize. For he said suddenly, very casually, "Dick." "Yes, Dave!" "That's a hard part to cast." "I know." "It calls for more than most radio actors can give. Because most of them can't feel what you're trying to say."

"Why don't you play it yourself?" "Me?" Dick tried to laugh, but it didn't budge. "Me? Why?" "Go on. Read it once. Let me listen, Dick." "But—why not? Even though the words would help. Even hearing myself say them as Judy should have heard him might ease the pain a little. All right." "I'll try it, Dave. But only because there's so little time. It's not my fault. The client held up nothing until the last possible minute. Just let us know this afternoon, and we'll be on the air at 9:30 tonight. Crazy and I told him so. But he insisted. Seems he took a chance and signed up tentatively for everything, but he couldn't give the 'go ahead' until this morning and O.K.d. what he'd already done. So that was the best I could do. And—"

"Never mind, Dick. We'll put it on the air, and we'll put it on right. Even if we haven't any time. So try the part."

Facing the microphone, Dick found he wanted to close his eyes. Then he knew why. Because, with his eyes closed, he could see Judy Allison. Because he knew the words so well that he needed to look at the script only once or twice, because the words were so true that they could be said over and over and they could never grow old. "I don't want you to leave me. Not now. Not ever. There's such a little time left. Only years. When there ought to be centuries. When we ought never to die."

Something crashed loudly. He started, stared. It was only the door leading into the studio. "You'll do, Dick," Owen said, grinning. "You put more feeling into it than you need to, really. Well, let's go. We'll use you, Mrs. Denny. And Mr. Harford. And you, Dick. And Irvin, there's not much sound-effect stuff in this. Here. Let's mark the sound cues. Otto, will you get that other microphone set up? All right, let's go." "Cues. Speeches. Words underscored. Words underscored. Microphones. The dreary paraphernalia of a business Dick Mason had thought he loved more than anything else a man could hope to follow.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

FRATERNAL BODY PLANS SERVICE

Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to Honor Memory of Departed Members

The nineteenth annual memorial service of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the lodge room, Weller Block, Douglas Street. This service has, in the past, been conducted in the evening, but in order to prevent it from interfering with church services, the time this year has been changed to the afternoon.

Not only in Victoria will the Elks be honoring the memory of their deceased brothers, but also in all States similar ceremonies will be held in Elk lodges. This service, which is always very impressive, will commence with an orchestral selection, "War March of the Priests," followed by "Memorial Ritual," performed by the officers of the lodge. The "Invocation" will be given by Edgar Jones, chaplain of the lodge.

Rev. A. deB. Owen will deliver the memorial address. The programme will be interspersed with hymns and the following artists will render solos: Mrs. T. R. Bowden, Thomas Kelway and Frederick Wright. The service is open to the public.

How It STARTED
Jean Redman"SENT TO COVENTRY"
We want an inquiry on that old saying, "Being sent to Coventry" for being ostracised, excluded from the society to which one belongs.

Various theories have been advanced for the origin of this expression, which dates back to the days of the Commonwealth in England. One is that it arose from the fact that incompetent officers were sent by the Parliamentary party to the town of Coventry, in the Midlands. It has also been attributed to the large number of Royalists in Coventry jail during the Commonwealth, and also to a corruption of

"quarantine," which was formerly pronounced "cointrie."

We know the fact that in Coventry at the time in question, women who spoke to soldiers were ostracised because of the unpopularity of the troops. That would seem to get right down to the heart of the expression. Take your choice! (Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"Can I sell you a book of etiquette, sir?"
"No, thanks. I won't need it; I'm getting married today."

TWO SPEAKERS ADDRESS CLUB

Members of the Victoria College Science Club heard two interesting addresses by J. B. Munro, deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Percy H. Elliott, principal of the institution, at a meeting held Thursday night.

Mr. Munro dealt with "Science in Modern Agriculture," explaining how scientific methods had been introduced into the work and how considerable study was being carried out along these lines.

Principal Elliott spoke on "Psychology," dealing more particularly with unconscious thought, which, he explained, was not purely scientific. It was utilized in muscle reading, he said, and closely related to hypnotism.

Johnny: "What is a philosopher, father?" Father: "A man with a good constitution, position and bank account."

MEDICAL WORK OF CHURCH HONORED

Late Dr. F. B. Couland Played Large Part in Introducing Western Medicine into China

Honorable mention was made of the services of the late Dr. F. B. Couland, for several years a resident of this city, at the meeting of the Chinese Medical Association held in Shanghai recently. Dr. Couland, who was the father of Dr. P. A. C. Couland, of this city, was for many years head of the publication department of the Medical Missionary Association of China, and supervised, and in a number of cases himself wrote for publication, the issue of selected medical works of Western medicine and surgery for the benefit of Chinese doctors. His extended and indefatigable labors in this field were commended at the Shanghai gathering.

The recent meeting was historic in that there was brought together for the first time the combined medical forces of the Chinese and foreign practitioners. The new association is the union of the China Medical Association and the National Medical Association. The latter was composed of Chinese medical men, and the former is an expansion of the earlier organization of Christian medical missionaries, in connection with which Dr. Couland did his valuable work.

Mission hospital work, concerning which there has been adverse comments in the press, was implicitly endorsed by the new joint body, in that it set up a council on medical missions, as one of its standing committees. The secretary of this council, Dr. J. L. Maxwell, is director of the Henry Lester Institute of Medical Research and is one of the leading medical authorities in China. He is expected to pass through Victoria next April.

OXFORD GROUP IS SERMON SUBJECT

The topic for morning worship at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will be "The Oxford Group Movement." Can Christian Men and Women Support It? The evening ing class meets at 7 o'clock Thursday; the prayer and Bible study service will be characterized by the usual hymns and choral anthem, the soloist being the well-known singer, Mr. Llewellyn, of Victoria.

Male Choir.
Rev. G. F. Cox will continue his interesting series of subjects relating to the second coming of our Lord, and will preach on "Christ and Antichrist; the Two Great Leaders the World is Expecting." Saanich Dairymen Protest Against Milk Regulations
A delegation of milkmen interviewed the Saanich Council this week, and lodged a protest against the recently amended milk by-law now under consideration by the council.

A. G. Lambrick acted as spokesman and informed the council that dairymen were protesting the new regulation, which they claimed, was contradictory to the Provincial Milk Act.
The matter was left to the committee of the council which prepared the by-law for reconsideration at a meeting with the municipal health officer, Mr. Lambrick and Ernest Raper, the latter representing the dairymen.

Pastor N. C. Erntson, of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, promises one of the most thrilling lectures to be given in this city at the A.O.F. Hall on Sunday at 7:30 o'clock. BISHOP LLOYD GIVEN HONOR

Diocesan Endowment Fund Named After Distinguished Churchman of This City

A signal honor has been conferred upon Rt. Rev. G. E. Lloyd, D.D., formerly Bishop of Saskatchewan, who retired two years ago after a long period of service in Western Canada, to live in the city, and is now residing in Esquimalt.

An anonymous donor in England has given $80,000 as an endowment fund for the newly-erected diocese in Northern Saskatchewan, one of the stipulations being that the name of the fund should memorialize the life and labors of Bishop Lloyd. The fund will therefore be known as the Bishop Lloyd Memorial Bishopric Endowment Fund.

The Bishop of Saskatchewan, in The Diocesan News for November, refers to the gift as something unprecedented in the history of the Church of England in Canada. "Something always to be remembered," he goes on to say, "is that the gift is in memory of Bishop Lloyd's devoted work in Saskatchewan during all the years of his ministry as chaplain, missionary, archdeacon, principal and bishop. To very few men is given the opportunity of such lengthy and varied service, and Bishop Lloyd has used it strategically and without a thought of sparing himself."

The endowment gift will make effective the proposed plan of a division of the Diocese of Saskatchewan into the Diocese of Saskatchewan and the Diocese of Saskatchewan. The Bishop of the former is Rt. Rev. W. T. Hallam, formerly rector of the Church of the Ascension, Hamilton, Ont. For the election of the first bishop of the new diocese, the Diocesan Synod has been called to meet on December 8 in Prince Albert.

Regina Roughriders and Tigers Will Meet for Canadian Rugby Championship—10,000 Fans Expected—Starting Line-Ups Announced

HAMILTON, Dec. 2 (CP).—Regina Roughriders and Frank Tully were both on duty today, so Hamilton felt the old battle was coming on and went ticket-buying. Close to 10,000 may be in the stands on Saturday when Tully, his twisted ankle held in a special brace, leads Hamilton Tigers into the Canadian football final against Regina.

Even with the East's greatest backfielder in uniform, the Bengals seemed certain to start little better than even-money favorites to retain the only Canadian sport title the West has been unable to win. This is partly because Tully's injured ankle may stand up for only a few minutes and mostly because the Roughriders came to town with the most impressive record any prairie machine has compiled.

The Monument to a Pig—This unique monument, which is situated just off the highway on Route 25, north of Blue Bell, Ohio, bears the following historical inscription:
"The first pedigree of a Poland China hog was written on this farm in 1878 by W. C. Hankinson, owner of the farm, and Carl Creigau, compiler of the original record. This strictly American breed of swine originated within a radius of a few miles of this place, and in the making required the period from 1816 to 1886. WILLOWS DEFEAT GARRISON CLUB BY 10-8 SCORE

WILLOWS, N.S.W., Dec. 2 (CP).—Against a devastating attack by English bowlers, famous Antipodean batsmen failed in the opening day's play of the first cricket test match between England and Australia today when stumps were drawn the home players had compiled 290 runs for six wickets.

Australia would have made a very poor showing but for the sterling display of Stanley McCabe, youthful all-rounder, who, going in at the fall of the second wicket, defied the wiles of the English bowlers and remained unbeaten at the close with 127 runs to his credit.

Such veterans as Woodfull, Ponsford and Kippax, who have started in international cricket for years, could do little against the fast high-bouncing balls sent down by Larwood and Voce, who bore the brunt of the English attack.

The match was commenced in fine, cool weather before a crowd which, after the lunch interval, numbered 45,000.

Winning the toss, Australia went in to bat on a fast wicket. Woodfull, the captain, and Ponsford forming the first pair. Play opened quietly, only 12 runs being scored in the first half-hour. Voce had five fielders placed on the leg side. After taking thirty-eight minutes to score 7 runs, Woodfull swung at one of Voce's high-kicking deliveries, and was taken by Ames at the wicket with 22 runs on the score board.

Ponsford, who was joined by Fingleton, batted with the utmost caution, and finally with a hit to leg off Larwood, sent up the half-century after seventy-five minutes' play. Lunch was taken with the score standing at 63 runs for one wicket.

LAKWOOD BOWLS PONSFORD
Hammond and Larwood were the bowlers on the resumption. The latter, with his second ball, spread-eagled Ponsford's wickets, the Australian veteran having made 32 out of a total of 65. Ponsford opened confidently and looked to be well set when the Nottinghamshire bowler's delivery caught him napping. He had been at the wickets 1 hour and 43 minutes.

Fingleton stayed only a few moments, being caught by Allen at short leg off the last ball of Larwood's third over. Three wickets had fallen for 82 runs. Fingleton including three 4s in his 26 runs. The stylish Kippax encountered difficulties with Larwood's fast bowling, and after scoring 8 runs, was out lb.w at 67.

McCabe and Richardson then became associated, and they provided the brightest cricket of the day. McCabe sent up the 100 after 2 hours and 24 minutes of play, and followed this up by sending Voce to the boundary twice in succession. The score at the tea interval was 154 for four wickets. McCabe being 47 and his partner 21.

Verily and Larwood took up the bowling after the tea interval. Richardson struck out aggressively and McCabe knocked up his half-century after an hour and a half. The change in fortune put the crowd in high good humor.

MAGNIFICENT CATCH
Richardson finally went down at 49, Hammond making a magnificent catch at square leg of Richardson's hit off Voce. The Australian total was 216 for five wickets. McCabe-Richardson partnership at this time had given Australia 129 runs.

Oldfield joined McCabe, but proved another easy catch. Larwood, Ames ran to make a simple catch of Oldfield's sky off for 231 runs. McCabe, however, remained unimpaired. He was joined by the stolid Grimmett. McCabe's batting was a delight to watch. He had been at the wicket just a little over three hours when stumps were drawn. His 127 included seventeen 4s. Grimmett took the fort at his end with 17 at the close.

STAN MCCABE MAKES 187, NOT OUT, FOR THE ANTIPODEAN ELEVEN

Batting of Young Australian Player Feature of First Innings—Larwood and Voce Bowl Well for Englishmen—Record Crowd of 50,000 Attends Match

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Dec. 3 (CP).—Australia scored 360 runs in the first innings of the opening test cricket match against England today. The home players completed the innings and England, coming in to bat, had scored 18 runs without loss when lunch was taken.

Fifty thousand persons sat in the stands to watch the play, the men in shirt sleeves. It was one of the largest crowds in cricket history.

With the exception of Stanley McCabe, the youthful all-rounder, who scored 187 not out, the home players could do little against the powerful bowling of Harold Larwood and William Voce, many of their outstanding batsmen obtaining only ordinary scores. Hitting out with rare abandon while his colleagues stonewalled in an endeavor to hold their wickets, McCabe's effort was one of sustained brilliance.

TWENTY-FIVE FOURS
Going in yesterday, second wicket down, he defied all the wiles of the British trundlers, amassing his runs in a shade over four hours. His hits included twenty-five fours. The Australian innings lasted almost six hours.

V. Y. Richardson, the South Australian, was the only other player to make any kind of a showing, obtaining 49 runs. W. H. Ponsford scored 22.

Larwood returned the best analysis of the English bowlers, obtaining five wickets for 100 runs, while Voce gathered in four for 110. Voce's Hammond annexed the odd wicket for 34.

The English innings was opened by Herbert Sutcliffe, of Yorkshire, and R. E. S. Wyatt, of Warwickshire, the vice-captain of the test team. At the lunch adjournment Sutcliffe had scored 6 and Wyatt 12 runs.

GRIMMETT SCORES 19
With their overnight score standing at 290 for six wickets, C. Y. Grimmett and McCabe resumed for the Australians today. The famous bowler scored only a few moments, being caught at the wicket by L. E. G. James off the last ball on Voce's second over with the score at 290 runs.

I. Tate Nagel, young Australian included in the team in recognition of recent outstanding bowling performances, fell a victim to one of Larwood's lightning-like deliveries before he had scored.

W. J. O'Reilly followed and was quickly bowled by Voce for four runs.

A last wicket partnership between McCabe and Tate yielded 55 runs, before Tate was caught by G. O. Allen at short leg off Hammond's bowling. McCabe, the tall-ender held up his end, McCabe lashed the English bowling.
